The "Make A Film Foundation" Hosts Red Carpet Premiere of Deep Blue Breath

Abe McDonald and Tamika Lamison at Deep Blue Breath Premiere

Saturday night saw the red carpet premiere of Deep Blue Breath, a film by Clay Beabout. The gala took place at the Writer's Guild Theater in Beverly Hills. VJ Quddus hosted the event, which featured a performance by the winner of The Oprah Show's national singing competition, Abe McDonald. In addition to writing the film, Clay stars in it alongside Sean Astin (Lord of the Rings), Miguel Sandoval (Medium), and Ernie Hudson (Oz, Ghostbusters). The film is about Clay's struggle with a rare, life-threatening disorder called V.A.T.E.R. Syndrome. The "Make a Film Foundation" helps children with serious or life-threatening illnesses by pairing them up with film industry professionals to create short film legacies.
